Activity Introduction

Children can learn about traditional Chinese art through shadow play activities. The teacher will introduce the performers' puppet manipulation skills and how to manipulate the puppet's ropes. In the small story theater, children can enjoy storytelling and culturally significant performances of "The Tortoise and the Hare." They will be guided to observe the performance environment and equipment and understand the relationship between light and shadow. This will help cultivate children's observation and music appreciation abilities. Through this activity, children can explore traditional Chinese culture, learn shadow puppetry skills, and enrich their learning experience.
